Highpoint Plaza has been a local retail and business centre in the Ashgrove area for many years. JFP was involved in upgrading the external landscape and carpark to bring the centre back to its former glory and making the entrance to the complex more comfortable and inviting.

JFP worked in collaboration with Cottee Parker Architects to integrate the external spaces with the internal spaces by careful colour and material selection.

Both visual and physical permeability were major factors in the design for the landscape and carpark. New entrances were formed, as well as level studies to ensure that all access met Australian Access Codes and Standards. Planting was selected to allow sight lines from the street, while still providing a visual buffer between the complex and carpark.
